That Hacking Cough

Fland coughs are bad enough, to be sure. But it's often the little, backing, tickling, persistent cough that means the most, especially when there is a history of weak lungs in the family. What should be done? Ask your doctor. He knows. Ask him Book the formula on the label of every bottle of Ayer's Cherry Pertoral. Ask him if this medicine has his fuil approval for three and lung troubles. Then do as he says.

Eben Low on Jarrett.

Supervisor Eben Low, who is suspected of having one eye on the mayoralty and the other on the shrievalty bat whe donies both ambitions for the present, yesterday explained why he had commented on the employment of discharged soldiers on the police force. Low only wants the letter of the law earlied out, without claiming any particular fondness for the law.

GILMORE AND DE MELLO BOX 15 ROUNDS TO DRAW; BAD BLOOD OVER DECISION

FFrom Suntary's Advertiser.)

Ben de Mello, the "Hilo lion," and came back well toward the end, forcearge 'Slim' Gilmore of San Fransee boxed a fifteen round match last coming at the Orpheum theater, to a guese. He landed straights to the face traw. This is an unembellished statement of the ease. Some of the embelshments consist of the fact that de Mello complained he was fouled in the mird round; that many of the fans hought Gilmore deserved a decision; and finally that Gilmore was given a ong, loud and ominous husing when m directed a vicious hook to Referee icel Cohen's honest countenance upon the announcement of the verdict.

Outside of these things the match was a good one from the spectator's viewpoint, and the audience-or most of it-got its money's worth. There were three preliminaries, two of which were of more or less negligible quality. Of course blood always runs hot, over real or fancied wrongs, at a boxing ontest, but the temper of the nudience st the Orpheum last evening would seem to indicate that Gilmore will have call in the near future either to Australia or back to his old friends on the Coast.

De Mello Strong at First.

De Mello had the bout well in hand up to the tenth round. Most of the rounds went to him, some by a shade and others by considerbly more. But in the tenth Gilmore closed his left eye and from that time on had the Hilo lion sidestepping around the ring and taking punishment like a glutton. For four rounds this continued, the fourteenth leaving de Mello in bad shape when the gong sounded. In these four rounds Gilmore practically redeemed himself for the first ten and for the rather questionable stomach puches, many of which the fans shouted were too low. The fifteenth saw de Mello up and coming, fairly strong in spite of all his punishment and the handi-cap of one dim lamp, and the honors vere about evenly divided.

Under the circumstances - difficult nough for any referee- the decision was probably the right thing. Gilmore neither drove the Hilo lion into his cage, as he expected to do, nor did the Portuguese stop the husky Coast lad the way his friends hoped and expected.

The pair went to clinches repeated.

It was by during the first two rounds. It was practically all infighting, and they were about even. Gilmore kneaded do Mello's kidneys a bit and the latter managed to get in a right and left combination to the face.

De Mello Claims Foul.

It was after a clinch full of hard in fighting in the third that de Mello cried foul. Referee Cohen could see no foul and attempted to drag de Mello to his feet—he had sunk to his knees in real or pretended pain. Cohen start-ed the count and de Mello went in again, but under protest, This was Gilmore's round. The fourth brought nothing spectacular, infighting with little damage being resorted to. In a break de Mello landed a hard right to the side of the head.

The fifth round developed a change of tactics. There was less infighting from this time on, both standing off and boring in with straight arm jabs and hooks. Gilmore landed his left and lowing it with several vicious hooks to the kidney that made Gilmore wince.

De Mello began rushing and it developed into a furious round. Gilmore for him did not land.

Between 150 H. C. & S. Co. 150 H. de Mello came back with his right, fol-lowing it with several vicious hooks to

He landed a series of short left jubs to the face which were noticeably effective. These tactics were repeated in the cleventh, which was Gilmore's all the way. A below uppercut landed, followed by a staggering left and right to the face. De Mello finished in bad shape, but took his punishment heroically.

ON FORT STREET

The thief with the beer bottle got busy again early yesterday morning and secured a little less than $100 worth of cheap jewelry from the store of the American Jewelry Company, Fort street,

Entrance was secured in the rear by the simple expedient of throwing a beer bottle through the window and going through after it. It was the identical method used in the Culman San Francisco, Mark S.—G. W. Shirley, Identical method used in the Culman John Boyd and wife R. A. Allen, Miss A. E. Braham, Miss M. P. Benney, Miss the same nature. Chief McDuffie, to whose department the handling of the case falls, is confident that both jobs, together with some others, were done by the same party.

Yesterday morning, working on a very slim clue, the chief tracked down a party of six or seven satiors who had been staying in a local cheap boarding house. The men had been recalled to their ships but the room was searched and a razor fixed apparently for selfdefense and about two beer bottles were found.

Jewelry stores have been almost the sole victims and all the jobs have been done in the same manner. The chief believes that they have been perform ed by some sailor who has squeezed into the navy bringing nocturnal proelivities with him as the robberies con menced with the arrival of the fleet and none have been committed while the fleet has been out of port.
